

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS: The Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta (the Sixth Federal Reserve District) opened its Jacksonville Branch in 1918. This year marks a century of providing economic, financial and community services to our city and surrounding areas; and

WHEREAS: The Sixth Federal Reserve District includes Alabama, Florida and Georgia, and Louisiana; and

WHEREAS: The Federal Reserve System consists of twelve Reserve Banks located around the country and the Board of Governors in Washington, D.C.; and

WHEREAS: The Federal Reserve System is an integral part of our U.S. government, performing valuable functions such as conducting monetary policy, promoting the stability of the financial system, promoting the safety and soundness of individual financial systems, fostering payment and settlement system safety and efficiency, and promoting consumer protection and community development; and

WHEREAS: Through its six offices, the Sixth Federal Reserve District's tasks include distributing cash to banks and other depository institutions and processing electronic payments; and

WHEREAS: The Atlanta Fed also shares the Bank's research and expertise with the public through presentations, publications, community partnerships, and economic and financial education programs.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, LENNY CURRY, by virtue of the authority vested in me as mayor of Jacksonville, Florida, do hereby commemorate on October 23, 2018, and celebrate the local Federal Reserve Bank's century of presence and support for our community.

THE 100TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK'S JACKSONVILLE BRANCH

IN WITNESS THEREOF, this 19th day of October in the year Two Thousand and Eighteen

MAYOR

CITY OF JACKSONVILLE, FLORIDA
