

Jacksonville Fire and Rescue Department
515 N. Julia St.
Jacksonville, Florida 32202
904-630-2969

How can I make my home safer?

Why does a fire engine
show up for a heart attack?

What exactly happens when I call 911?

How fast can you get to my emergency?

What's it like to enter a burning building?

When you're not fighting fires,
what are you doing?

What does it take to become a firefighter?

What kind of training
do you have?

How do you choose where to build a new station?

How has the fire service evolved over the years?

JFRD Speakers Bureau

Lights and sirens, big red trucks and emergencies likely come to mind when you consider the Jacksonville Fire and Rescue Department.

That is just part of our story.

JFRD is one of the largest fire and rescue departments in the nation. The 1,200 uniformed personnel who safeguard Jacksonville's residents and property are part of a 120-year tradition.

We are extensively trained as first responders, and we experience and overcome risk on a daily basis. But we are more than merely reactive. JFRD is a sophisticated organization that is pursuing excellence through training and education as well as community service.

Our leaders would love to share the story of the Jacksonville Fire and Rescue Department
with your organization.

Speakers' Topics Include:

Fire Prevention & Safety
Emergency Preparedness
JFRD's History
The Rescue Division
The Training Academy

Hazardous Materials Team
Urban Search & Rescue Team
Community Service
Fire Hydrants

To Schedule a Speaker or for More Information:

Contact John Bracey: jbracey@coj.net or 630-2969