

Tangi K. Combs

Tangi K. Combs has been an advocate for women since the age of 18 years old. While working for Congresswoman Gail Glapion of New Orleans, La., Tangi developed a passion for seeing women lead in life. As a dynamic speaker, effective communicator and passionate community leader, Tangi has served people, but especially women who have been broken by life. After a tragic divorce of more than 20 years of marriage and three beautiful daughters, Tangi has firsthand insight on the plight of the single woman and mother. Through summits, seminars and the Word of God, Tangi has brought healing and a fresh perspective to tragic situations and circumstances. Her more than 20 years of experience has made her a sought after advocate for women.

As founder of The Tangible EFKT, her mission and goal is to strengthen and empower women and to help them see the possibility of a fresh life.

Experience: Assistant to Congresswoman Gail Glapion, Ordained Elder for 2 separate denominations, Community Bible study leader, Community Outreach Director for missions to Japan, Victim's Advocate for Hubbard House Domestic Violence Shelter, Residential Assistant/Life Coach for Sister's Inc. Life after prison program, Counselor of Women's issues for CBC Consultants, Commissioner on the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women.
