- Civil penalties, including temporary closure of the property – or even property seizure.

The Landlord Training Program is designed to help owners and managers keep illegal drug activity and other criminal activity off their property. The content of the course has been developed through a process of intensive research involving hundreds of organizations and individuals: landlords, management associations, private attorneys, public defenders, housing authority personnel, tenant screening companies, law enforcement leaders, district officers, and many others. The program has won the approval of active landlords and concerned tenants alike.

The program has been adapted for Jacksonville and is based on the National Landlord Training Program, originally supported by the Bureau of Justice Assistance, U.S. Department of Justice.

Research shows that over 90% of landlords who have taken the original course agree that they feel more secure in their ability to screen applicants, more likely to recognize warning signs of drug activity, and more confident of their ability to evict tenants in illegal activity on the property.

94% of landlords impacted by drug activity report using information from the course to help resolve the problem.
