Urban with assistance from Montgomery Correctional Institute inmates. Sgt. Smith mentioned that the inmates maintained positive attitudes although the conditions were hot and filthy. They cleaned up six sites and removed three dump truck loads of debris. Officer Oschner said he plans to talk with Chief Hackney about JSO scheduling regular patrols of the transient camp sites to be sure they don't move back in. He said he plans to obtain brochures to distribute to the transients they contact to provide information about available social services. Mayor's Liaison Wight Greger provided her business card to Officer Oschner and offered to help locate information about COJ services. Member Jean Grimsley expressed her concern about the increased panhandling in Riverside-Avondale – it has become a quality of life issue and creates an unsafe environment for residents. Residents expressed their sincere appreciation for JSO's work in Zone 4. The number for the Zone 4 Substation is 573-3165. The JSO non-emergency number is 630-0500.

Introductions and Acknowledgments:

- Guest Speaker: Acting Chair Mann introduced Vince Seibold, Environmental Quality Division Chief. Mr. Seibold discussed the Fertilizer and Irrigation Ordinances which were passed in July, 2008 and are now enforceable. At this time, the focus is education and outreach, but repeat offenders will be cited and fined. To report violations, please call 630-CITY. Concerns were expressed by Members Kathy Budd and Jim Ross regarding operating irrigation systems during rainfall and lawn services blowing yard debris into the storm drains – both are violations. Member Jean Grimsley suggested linking mandatory classes to license renewal for lawn and fertilizer services. Other questions were asked and concerns expressed about algae bloom, impact of storms on the water system, effect of bulkheads and using reclaimed water for irrigation. Mr. Seibold provided flyers, which are attached to this summary. Acting Chair Mann commended Mr. Seibold for the informative flyers.

- Public Comments:
 - Acting Chair Chuck Mann introduced Patrick Victor, Principal Engineer for Camp, Dresser and McKee (CDM), Inc. Mr. Victor reported that CDM is the consulting engineer firm on a FEMA and COJ project to update FEMA flood maps. The effort will also update the COJ Stormwater Master Plan, which was last updated in 1992. Newer mapping technology will allow higher quality flood maps. He asked residents to call Marcy Cook at 255-8769 with information about areas that flood. A guest asked about homeowners associations that have applied for the Stormwater Fee Credit. Vince Seibold answered that a new bill will be issued to those that have applied for the credit. Mr. Victor may be reached at 731-7109.
 - Acting Chair Mann introduced Jennifer Stagg, Coordinator for the COJ Emergency Preparedness Division (EPD). Her division is part of the Jacksonville Fire and Rescue Department. Ms. Stagg stressed that the COJ emergency responders may not be available for up to 72 hours following a disaster and residents need to be prepared to take care of their family members and neighbors. Ms. Stagg presented information about Jacksonville's Citizen Emergency Response Team (CERT). A free course is offered to residents who want to learn how to respond to emergencies following a disaster. The class teaches life-saving skills, disaster preparedness, response to terrorism including bio-terrorism, structural collapse, outdoor search and rescue. The minimum age for a trainee is 16, with an adult supervisor. There is no upper age limit. Member Jim Ross asked about water purification. Ms. Stagg replied that methods for water purification are taught in the class. CERT brochures were provided. Ms. Stagg may be contacted at 630-7885 or Jstagg@coj.net.
 - Guest Thomas Martin announced that the water permits for the Collins Road extension from Shindler Road to Old Middleburg Road have been postponed by the St. Johns River Water Management District Board until after their October meeting. He added that he had placed a CARE issue at 630-CITY regarding street flooding but the expected completion date was in October – he felt that is too long. Wight Greger explained that the completion date is pre-set by the system, but it could be completed prior to that date.
 - Member Charles Kelley introduced guests Olwen Busch and Gary Shook, who are members of the Northeast Florida Equestrian Society (NFES). NFES is in the process of nominating Ms. Busch and Mr. Shook as representatives to the SW CPAC. Mr. Kelley thanked Johnny Carter for his advice and assistance on furthering Mr. Kelley's projects. Mr. Kelley said he has arranged for volunteers to paint an existing pavilion near FCCJ Cecil North/Jacksonville Equestrian Center. Mr. Kelley said Gary Shook volunteered to mow the trails near the pavilion twice this summer. He Mr. Shook will return with his tractor to mow the area around the pavilion after it dries up from the recent rains. Mowing was done at no cost to the COJ.
