Re: Support for the Office of the Education Commissioner (FY 2013-2014)

Dear Mayor Brown:

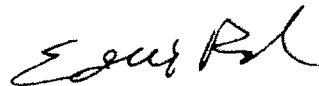

As you know, our law firm is deeply committed to the well-being of Jacksonville. We strongly believe that the future of our city depends on helping the next generation learn to reach their full potential as citizens and productive members of the community.

In 2012, Farah & Farah P.A., committed $200,000 to support education and youth-related initiatives at the City of Jacksonville. As part of that commitment, and in order to ease the burden on taxpayers during these challenging financial times, Farah and Farah P.A., will provide $76,820 to the City of Jacksonville to help fund the Office of Education Commissioner in Fiscal Year 2013-2014.

Thank you for making support for education and youth a priority of your administration. We look forward to following the work of the Office of Education Commissioner over the next year.

Sincerely,

Farah and Farah P.A.

Mayor Alvin Brown
City of Jacksonville
117 West Duval Street, #400
Jacksonville, FL 32202

Dear Mayor Brown,

Florida Blue has a mission to help people and communities achieve better health. One of the ways we accomplish this mission is through our corporate philanthropy across Florida, but especially in Jacksonville, our headquarters city.

We have been proud to partner with the City of Jacksonville during your administration on a number of initiatives that improve the quality of life for our citizens. One of those initiatives has been your focus on education. As you know, we have supported your City's education commissioner programs and the Learn to Earn program last summer.

Our records show that we have $6,000 remaining to pay toward our commitment of $185,000 for education-related programming. We would like to send the City the $6,000 to be used for the Office of the Education Commissioner.

Florida Blue is proud to be a long-time community leader in Jacksonville. We value our relationship with the City of Jacksonville and encourage other corporations and business leaders to support our City's work to improve the quality of life for all of Duval County.

Please let me know if you have any questions or need additional information.

Sincerely yours,

Susan B. Towler
