Program Strategy: To serve middle and high school youth in Health Zone 1 with career development, civic engagement, and higher education planning components.
Summary of Program: The teen program provides youth with a variety of activities and exposures that help youth understand the possibilities and path to a variety of careers that lead to a living wage. Emotional intelligence lessons include etiquette, social skills, conflict resolution skills, and other life skills. A variety of careers are presented that require technical school, apprenticeships, military training, or college as an entry point. Career options are explored through workshops, guest speakers, and field trips. Teen center programming engages a variety of partners including schools, volunteer program advisors, businesses, and professionals who serve as guest speakers. Program Overall Status: Our original student goal was 45 students. However, with the slow recruitment start and the fact that one of our major programs, Youth In Government, did not start until the fall. We currently have 97 students registered with more student participating in Junior Youth In Government than are registered in the SAMIS system. The teen program is going quite well. We added two classes from Butler Young Women's leadership academy and have several trips and activities planned for the full group of participants.
